*Full Studio Access

With this level of access, you can satisfy your need for creativity every day of the week from 6 am until midnight (once past the trial period for new studio-using artists)! Devote your time to developing your work in Clayworx beautiful open studio. Other than cleaning up after yourself when you're done for the day, all the myriad tasks associated with running our studios, maintaining equipment, and keeping supplies stocked are taken care of by paid staff and a devoted team of volunteers.

**Limited Studio Access

If you have a home studio but occasionally need access to glazes, kilns, and other specialized ceramic equipment that you can't afford or don't have space for at home, the Limited Studio Access level is perfect for you!

We want to help you achieve your creative goals. Limited access to Clayworx will give you the capacity to make and fire larger pieces, explore more making techniques, and apply a wider range of decorating styles to your work.

This level recognizes that you don't need access to wheels and hand building tables to produce your work but, you sometimes need large buckets of glaze to dip your ware more easily, to roll out large slabs, or to extrude cylinders for special projects you are working on at home. You are limited to a maximum of 150 hours per year.

***Affiliate Artist

Working in your home studio is a solitary pursuit and can sometimes feel very isolating. Connecting with like-minded artists is a great way to expand your social circle and learn and share skills and new techniques. If you have your own studio and don't need to use the facilities at Clayworx, but you still want access to various programs and services such as the opportunity to sell in our Potters Market sales or in the Clayworx store, attend events such as our Raku Bash or Holiday Party, attend skills sharing and building workshops, or piggyback on materials orders through Clayworx, the Affiliate Artist level is perfect for you.

NEW STUDIO-USING ARTISTS AT Clayworx

We have a 3-phase process for eligible individuals to become studio-using members at Clayworx We want to be assured that you are knowledgeable about the tools, equipment, materials, and health and safety issues related to working in a ceramic art studio. We also want to make sure you have knowledge that will allow you to be a good citizen in our shared studio environment.

3-phase process:

- 1) Submit an application that verifies you have at least 72-hours of ceramic instruction under your belt. Your experience can be from Clayworx classes and workshops, or from somewhere else. If you are an experienced ceramicist, we will accept a portfolio and references.
- 2) If you are eligible, you will be asked to register and pay for a mandatory New Member Intake (NMI) course (one offered September, January, and May). This multi-week course is designed to help you integrate smoothly into Clayworx makers community. You will become oriented in the studio, meet other studio members, learn proper studio practice, etiquette, and hygiene, as well as important health and safety rules. You will also receive mentorship to help you progress as a ceramic artist and be equipped to work independently in our studio.

3) During the NMI course you will receive a fob, for a $20 deposit, that will give you access to the studio outside of class time. Part way through the course you will be given a link to pay for your membership, starting from the beginning of the course and going until the end of the membership year. You will sign an acknowledgement and agreement form stating that you will abide by our Global Code of Conduct.

VOLUNTEERING IN THE STUDIO OR FOR OTHER OPPORTUNITIES AT CLAYWORX

Volunteering at Clayworx is not mandatory, but you are invited to volunteer on a studio team to augment your knowledge and skills or in another capacity that fits best with your existing skill set and time availability.
